

A FUNDRAISER YOUR PARENTS WILL LOVE

I'm sure you've heard all of this and more before...

"I hate pushing fundraiser cookie dough on my coworkers."

"This giftwrap is so overpriced."

"I feel guilty asking my neighbors to buy this."

"Can I just write the school a check?"

FUNDRAISERS HAVE A BAD REPUTATION ... UNTIL NOW.

I'm Paul Bacio and I used to hate fundraiser season too.

I'm the father of three beautiful kids, and although I love them with all my heart, my wife and I felt triple the fundraiser guilt at the start of each school year.

Which is why I've decided to turn fundraiser season upside down.

Why not provide something that both the parents and kids will actually enjoy?

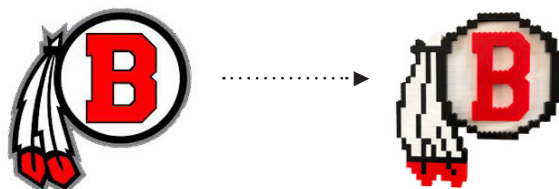

Something that's healthy, reasonably priced, STEM-focused and that you don't have to push onto your coworkers, family members, or neighbors (trust me, I know how that all goes).
